Graybeard was formed in 2016 when Scott Russ approached Brandon Evans, a friend from law school, with a recipe for liquor that his grandfather had passed down to him from their family history in Ireland. Brandon was impressed by the uniqueness of the nose and flavor profile from what he came to find out was a long-grain, white rice vodka. There was no question that the friends had to find a way to get this industry-disrupting spirit to market as fast as we could, so Scott and Brandon gathered up prior business partners Sam Searcy, Ron Templeton, and Brad Evans, to form Graybeard. One of the fascinating initial tasks was to come up with a name for the distillery, finally settling on Graybeard which interestingly and apropos enough, is a large stoneware jug used for holding spirits in old Ireland.

Graybeard produces Bedlam Vodka and on this tour you will see the entire operation from grain to glass and learn the process for distillation of spirits

Please RSVP so we can give them a head-count the day before)
